

Tar Block

Slickline Downhole Tools

Features

- Multiple sizes to fit most applications
- Allows fishing of small, non-ferrous materials

Benefits

- Inexpensive
- Simple to redress and reuse

The Hunting Tar Block product provides a simple, effective solution for some unique fishing requirements.

Similar in design to a conventional Impression Block, the Tar Block can be used to fish small non-ferrous debris and short strands of wire which cannot be recovered using conventional magnets or other fishing methods.

Unlike an Impression Block, the Tar Block is run to depth and once contact is achieved, several light downward jarring motions will embed the materials into the 'Tar' and allow recovery.

